

O Morning Star!

Rev. 22:16, 17, 20; Mal 4:2

55671 71212 35513

Geo. F. Root (1820-1895)

The sky no long - er o - ver - cast, The night of gloom - y er - ror
The gentle dew of truth dis - tils Re - fresh - ing val - leys, plains and
The spir - it cries with - in us, Come! The bride the Church in - vites us

The sky no long - er o - ver - cast, The night of gloom - y
The gentle dew of truth dis - tils Re - fresh - ing val - leys, The spir - it cries with - in us, Come! The bride the Church in - past, The bright, the glo - rious Morn - ing Star Ex - tends his hills; Each soul that seeks in Christ his good Is now sus - home; E'en so, come quick - ly, bless - ed Lord, And be by er - ror past, The bright, the glo - rious Morn - ing Star plains and hills; Each soul that seeks in Christ his good vites us home; E'en so, come quick - ly, bless - ed Lord, in - fluence wide and far. O Morning Star! still nearer draw, Shine tained with heavenly food.

heaven and earth a - dored.

Ex - tends his in - fluence wide and far. O Morning Star! still nearer draw, Shine
Is now sustained with heavenly food.
And be by heaven and earth a - dored.

10

thro' thy Word, un - fold thy law! Then shall we see the light in - thro' thy Word, un - fold thy law! Then shall we see, then shall we see the crease, A Sun of right - eousness and peace.

13

light increase, A Sun, a Sun of right - eousness and peace.